

NEW HOPE OF PERMANENT WORLD PEACE IS BORN AS DAWES AND MACDONALD CONFER ON NAVAL CUTS

Spiller Will Offer Compromise Plan Today

TO FREE GRIFFITH OF COURT TANGLE FOR NEW PLAYERS

Cracker Club Owner Would Release Washington Chief From All Obligations in Trade for Men.

LAWYERS TO MEET HERE THIS MORNING

If Proposal Fails To Go Through Suit for Damages Will Probably Be Outcome.

BY RALPH M'GILL.

First rifts in the Washington-Atlanta baseball storm clouds were revealed yesterday afternoon when R. J. Spiller, of the Crackers, indicated that he would offer a compromise proposition at a conference of attorneys this morning.

His compromise is one suggested by The Constitution sports department Sunday afternoon. It involves the release of Clark Griffith, of Washington, from any obligations he may have assumed by signing a contract to purchase the Crackers, provided he will send players to Atlanta to aid in the present pennant race.

"I believe the suggestion is a good one," said Mr. Spiller when he heard it Sunday afternoon. "It had occurred to me once or twice and I will offer it at a conference of Mr. Griffith's and my attorneys."

Need Players. The Constitution suggested that the ball club was going splendidly and needed but a few players to stick up in the race and that if the suggested compromise could be made it would settle all difficulties and at the same time give the Crackers a pennant contender.

"I never would have sold had the club been winning and up in the first division," said Mr. Spiller, "and I will offer the compromise Monday and see what they think of it. I believe it is a good one."

Soothed by a Sabbath of bucolic calm, attorneys were all set this morning for some more legal and mental gyrations entitled, "Ball club, ball club, who owns the ball club?"

If the compromise suggested is approved and proves acceptable to Clark Griffith, "The Old Fox" of Washington, it will establish the Crackers in the Southern association race. The row seems to have welded them together and got the entire squad hustling as a unit for the first time this season.

Headed for Court.

When the week just passed reeled to a close after the epileptic fit of Thursday when the Southern league's greatest baseball deal was guillotined without benefit of clergy, there seemed but one course open to R. J. Spiller—to go into a court of law and sue for specific performance of contract or for damages.

R. J. Spiller is a smart businessman. He hasn't run a stake of $2,500 to almost a million dollars just by

Battle To Limit Tariff To Farms Opens in Senate

Borah's Demand for Restriction to Agriculture Seen as Turning Point in Protection Policy.

BY MARK SULLIVAN.

Washington, June 16.—The coming week will be decisive on the tariff. Not merely will it be decisive on the present tariff. Victory for Senator Borah's resolution might be a turning point in the history of American tariff policy. Senator Borah's resolution is to the effect that the coming tariff revision in the senate shall be "confined to agriculture and directly related products." Technically, "directly related products" would take in a wide range. For example, the agricultural product cotton is "directly related" to textiles. That, however, and all other technicalities, are beside the point. Everybody knows what is in Senator Borah's mind. It is that duties on agricultural products shall be revised generally and generously, but that as to other industries the revision shall be strictly limited, presumably to compensatory duties made necessary by raises on agricultural raw materials. The fight commences Monday.

Reverses Protection Policy.

Senator Borah, in short, proposes to make a clear distinction between the tariff as it affects agriculture and as it affects other industries. Senator Borah would use the tariff to stimulate agriculture and agriculture alone. He would cease using the tariff to further stimulate manufacturing. He would not reduce present rates on manufactured goods, but he would specifically refrain from raising them higher.

This proposal may be described without stretching the facts as the reverse of the point of view about tariff that industry has adopted. At that time manufacturers were regarded as "infant industries" and the protective tariff was adopted to stimulate them. Today Senator Borah's proposal looks upon agriculture as a "sick industry" and would use the tariff as a stimulant to that industry. To understand the immediate background, two distinctions should be borne in mind. One is the distinction between non-agricultural commodities and non-agricultural commodities. The other distinction is between the principle of "limited revision" and "general revision."

Congress Oversteps Purpose.

This session of congress was brought about specifically for two main purposes. One was to benefit agriculture directly by a farm relief bill. The second was to benefit farming indirectly by tariff revision. As an incident to the second purpose, tariff revision for the benefit of the farmer, it was proposed, and the proposal was generally accepted, that there should also be tariff revision for a limited number of industries additional to agriculture. One special industry in everybody's mind was textiles. Senator Fess, of Ohio, after Senator Borah's proposal started the present commotion, showed by citations from the republican platform, and from President Hoover's call, that the intention was to revise at least some schedules in addition to agriculture. In short, it is fair to say that the program of this congress, as determined by the conditions, and as approved by common consent, was for

BRAMWELL BOOTH, SALVATION ARMY LEADER, SUCCUMBS

Deposed Commander Passes as Physicians Hold High Hopes for His Recovery.

Hadley Wood, England, June 16.—(AP)—General Bramwell Booth, former head of the Salvation Army, died at his home here tonight.

The end came to the militant religious leader, who had celebrated his 73rd birthday on March 8, shortly after 9 p. m. tonight. His wife and family, with the exception of his daughter, Commissioner Mary, who had shared largely in his work with the army and supported him when he fought to maintain control of it, were with him.

Death Unexpected.

The end of the long illness that began last fall came suddenly and the death of the general was a shock to everyone. Doctor Milne, who had been attending the general, found him in very much the same condition he had been in for weeks past when he saw him on Saturday night. There was no sign of an imminent relapse. Dr. John Weir visited him this morning and saw there had been a turn for the worse. He summoned Dr. Milne for consultation and while they agreed the condition of the patient was grave they did not expect a sudden collapse. Dr. Milne returned home. Tonight a telephone call from the nurse attending the general caused him to rush back to the patient.

When he reached the bedside a few minutes after 9 o'clock the general had already passed peacefully away.

Honored by King.

Throughout the day the general had remained conscious and was able to recognize his wife, his daughters Dora and Olive, and his two sons as they stood at his bedside. It was only just before the end that he lapsed into unconsciousness and he died quietly.

When the veteran Salvationist celebrated his last birthday, it was said that he was well on the road to recovery from the long illness which began as far back as April, 1928, and had many ups and downs. His life had been despaired of last November. It was after General Booth had been deposed from leadership of the army that King George, himself recovering from a serious illness, bestowed the Comradeship of Honor on the aged general.

LIFE OF GENERAL ONE OF STRUGGLE.

General Booth was born at the Yorkshire town of Halifax, March 8, 1856, where his parents, William Booth, a crusading young Methodist revival preacher, and his wife, were temporarily stationed. Young Booth grew up in an atmosphere which he was to know all his life—the street corner sermons and revivals which were conducted by his parents.

Abandoning thoughts of a career as a physician, the young man plunged into the work of his father and after the mission workers organized at the Salvation Army in 1878, he

SAW GIRL BEATEN, DRAGGED IN WOODS, HIX WITNESS SAYS

Man Attempting To Throw Woman in Incinerator, Brakeman Tells Officers.

Columbus, Ohio, June 16.—(United News).—Professor James H. Snook, of the veterinary department of Ohio State university, admitted fully to police today that he had shared a secret love nest with Miss Leora Hix, university co-ed, the victim Thursday night of one of the most frightful murders in Ohio police records.

Snook is held on the technical charge of suspicion, along with Professor Marion Meyers, of the horticultural department of the university, a former sweetheart of Miss Hix.

P. P. Cenebaugh, a railway brakeman, was the latest contributor today to the investigation of the murder.

Cenebaugh said he was riding a string of cars near Fort Hayes Thursday night, when he saw a man beating and choking a woman—apparently trying to overpower her and throw her into the fort incinerator nearby.

Cenebaugh said he and a fellow brakeman returned to the scene and that the assailant grabbed the girl and ran into a clump of shrubbery. They searched for him, but were unable to find a trace of him or the girl, Cenebaugh said.

Mrs. Freda Brown, clerk in a cleaning establishment, told detectives today that Professor Snook took a suit to the shop Friday to be cleaned—a gray flannel one—and a flannel shirt. Usually cut when he called, Professor Snook was extremely pleased, Mrs. Brown said.

Within the sleeves of the suit, detectives said, were found spots, as if the wearer had made them in withdrawing his hands through the sleeves. These spots are to be examined chemically.

Taken to Scene.

Snook was taken this morning to the rifle range, where the girl's body was found. Later he was questioned regarding a further statement made by Mrs. Snalley, who rented him and Miss Hix their nest room.

Mrs. Snalley said that Snook called at 2 p. m. Friday, after the discovery of Miss Hix's body, and told her that he was leaving town. He surrendered two keys to the door, she said—one that had been used by him, the other by Miss Hix.

Police tonight suspended their questioning of Professor Snook and Professor Meyers, pending a full inquiry tomorrow at which all available witnesses will be heard. Chief of Detectives Shellberger said that after the hearing the charge against Snook might be altered.

Meyers Not Suspected.

Police do not suspect Meyers of having any part in Miss Hix's murder. His arrest was due partly to the belief of detectives that stories he told them of his recent activities were conflicting. They think that his once close association with Miss Hix had ended.

Snook stoutly maintains his innocence of any complicity in Miss Hix's murder.

Air-Rail Service Brings New York Nine Hours Nearer

Called by Tabernacle

DR. LEN G. BROUGHTON.

TABERNACLE CALLS DR. BROUGHTON

Believed Former Pastor Will Accept Pulpit of Atlanta Church He Helped Found.

Rev. Len G. Broughton, one of the best known leaders in the Baptist denomination in the southeast and a former pastor and founder of the Baptist Tabernacle, has been extended a call to the pastorate of his former church. The call was extended at the close of the regular 11 o'clock service Sunday morning, when members of the Tabernacle were called into a conference to discuss the matter.

George Whitman, chairman of the pulpit committee, announced that the name of Dr. Broughton had been selected to be recommended to the membership and when a vote was taken the result was almost unanimous. No other name was mentioned.

Rev. Broughton has been one of the outstanding Baptist ministers in the Southern Baptist convention and in addition to his building the present Baptist Tabernacle, he was one of the founders of a small hospital, that later became the Georgia Baptist hospital. He has also served pastorates in Richmond, Va., London, England, and for a number of years at the First Baptist church in Jacksonville, Fla., his last active work as a pastor.

During the past year he has been serving as an evangelist and recently conducted a two weeks' revival at the Gordon Street Baptist church. He left the city two weeks ago to conduct a revival service in North Carolina. He has been away from the city 17 years, but recently moved his family back to Atlanta.

Dr. Broughton has not made a statement regarding the call, it having been wired to him soon after the action at the Sunday service. Members of the church are hopeful that he will accept and it is generally believed that the former pastor will return to the church he first built.

The Baptist Tabernacle, with membership of 3,000, has been with the services of a pastor since the resignation January 1 of Rev. Will H. Houghton, who is studying abroad. Rev. Ralph Stewart, song leader and choir director, has been acting as pastor since January 1.

CHARLES I. RYAN IS SERIOUSLY ILL AFTER OPERATION

Charles I. Ryan, vice president of the Fourth National bank, is in a critical condition at St. Joseph's hospital, following a major operation Saturday afternoon. Mr. Ryan had been confined to his home at the Capital City Club several days prior to being rushed to the hospital Saturday afternoon for the operation. He had been unable to attend to his duties at the bank for more than a month.

Train-Plane Schedule, Starting in Two Weeks, Saves Working Day in Trip to Atlanta.

Overnight passage between New York and Atlanta will be possible with the opening, within the next two weeks, of a combined rail and air schedule between New York and New Orleans, it was announced Sunday by officials of the Southern Air Transport, Inc., working in conjunction with the Southern railroad.

The schedule calls for departure from the metropolis at about 7 o'clock, central time, aboard a crack train on the Southern. This train to pull in to Charlotte, N. C., at about 7:30 o'clock the following morning. Here the passengers desiring speed will be transferred to waiting planes that will arrive in Atlanta at about 9 o'clock, thus saving a whole working day over the train arrival.

The service is to be started on a north-to-south basis but as soon as schedules can be arranged and equipment be provided it will be operative in both directions. Passengers bound for New York will fly from Atlanta, New Orleans or Montgomery, Charlotte, there to board a train that passed through their cities several hours before their departure.

Route Tried Out. The ship will then continue on through Montgomery to New Orleans, arriving at about 5 o'clock in the afternoon, making about a 22-hour schedule to the Louisiana city from New York, a saving of about 15 to 16 hours.

This route was tried out Friday

FIGHT EXPECTED OVER ANNEXATION

Gilliam Will Seek Roll Call Vote on Proposal at Council Meeting This Afternoon.

Although already voted down by the charter revision committee, Alderman Ed A. Gilliam's paper calling for the annexation of Atlanta of some 22 additional square miles of territory is expected to precipitate a bitter fight at the regular meeting of city council this afternoon.

The other important matter scheduled for the consideration of the council is the June finance sheet, balanced by the finance committee last Wednesday night. In this paper practically every city department finds its funds limited to bare necessities because the finance body found it necessary to inaugurate a stringent retrenchment policy in order to avoid a deficit for the year.

The annexation paper, which would add many of Atlanta's extensive environs to the city proper, was voted down, 4 to 1, by the charter revision committee after 4 of the 5 committee members had previously indicated they would vote for the paper.

Councilman John A. White has announced that he will back Alderman Gilliam in his efforts to obtain a roll call vote of the council despite the committee's defeat of it. Following Mr. White's announcement of his position and when it became clear that several council members would back the move for a vote, opponents of the annexation increased their activity. Former Governor John M. Slaton is foremost among the residents of the affected territory who are opposing the move and over Saturday and Sunday was reported to have been circulating members of council urging that they vote against the proposal. Mr. Gilliam has announced that he will file a minority report of the committee action.

Proponents of the movement urge that those living in residential districts close to the city limits are profiting from the city's innumerable ways without bearing their share of the taxation burden. Those opposing the annexation urge, on the other hand, that they should not be asked to bear these burdens unless it is in their wish.

At least a large minority, if not a majority, of council members already have indicated their approval of the expansion program and it is thought not at all unlikely that the measure will win approval if voted upon, despite the committee's unfavorable action.

Open Diplomacy Displaces Secret Maneuvering at Initial Conference on Sea Armament.

BOTH WILL TELL VIEWS TO WORLD

Other Nations To Be Invited To Join Move To Stop Building and Save Money.

Forbes, Scotland, June 16.—(AP)—In the Scottish highlands far from the beaten paths of diplomacy Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald and United States Ambassador Charles G. Dawes today informally launched a new movement for solution of the problem of naval disarmament.

Formal negotiations on this question which has clouded the relations of the two English speaking countries will begin on Tuesday night in simultaneous addresses by the premier and the ambassador. These speeches, General Dawes at the Pilgrims' dinner in London, and Mr. MacDonald at his native Lossiemouth, near Forbes, will deal with this vital issue fully and frankly in the hope of attaining a sure basis for world peace.

Expect Other Nations to Join. The conferees declared after their talk in the historic rural mansion that other naval powers "will be expected to co-operate" in these new negotiations. Some of those who heard the statement believed the word "expect" constituted a challenge to other powers to fall in line with the renewed disarmament movement. Others interpreted it merely as giving notice that other nations would be welcomed, in short that Great Britain and America did not regard the problem as exclusively their own.

The premier with his own hand, wrote out a preliminary declaration did not come up in today's conversations, both parties asserted. The premier with his own hand, wrote out a preliminary declaration did not come up in today's conversations, both parties asserted.

"We have had a conversation regarding the present position of the question of naval disarmament as between the United States and Great Britain," he said. "It is intended to be the beginning of the negotiations. We both wish to make it clear that other naval powers are expected to co-operate in these negotiations upon the successful consummation of which the fate of the whole world depends."

People Cheer Dawes. "His excellency" (General Dawes) proposes to refer to the subject at the Pilgrims' dinner in London on Tuesday night and I shall do the same at Lossiemouth, and that is intended to be the beginning of the negotiations. We both wish to make it clear that other naval powers are expected to co-operate in these negotiations upon the successful consummation of which the fate of the whole world depends."

All along the journey from London the progress of Ambassador Dawes was watched with keen interest by the British people. His untroubled speed in presenting his credentials to King George and then his almost immediate journey north to chat with the premier captured the popular imagination.

It was widely reported that he brought to the British premier an invitation from President Hoover to visit him in Washington for discussion of the relations of the two nations, but after the conference today both said that this subject did not arise.

There prevails a strong feeling over here that the American president and the British chief of state are determined that their nations together shall take vigorous leadership in the settlement of the armament problem as the first requirement for world peace. So General Dawes has been everywhere hailed with every evidence of sincere cordiality.

Reporters Admitted. When Premier MacDonald entered his train at Forbes station a great crowd of highland folk let out a hearty cheer for the distinguished visitor. Pleasure at his coming was gracefully voiced by the senior ballie of the borough, William Caldwell, before the ambassador was hurried off to the

My worst experience as a mail pilot was right at the beginning of my career.

I was practicing night flying off the Chicago airport. I went up just after dark one evening. At 100 feet, while I was in a climbing position over the edge of the field, the motor failed.

I had no chance to control the ship. It crashed, wrecking itself, fracturing my skull, otherwise injuring me and knocking me unconscious. Then it started to burn.

A workman, risking his life, slashed with a pocket knife to cut loose my safety strap (he didn't know how to unfasten the catch). Although he was burned, he dragged me to safety before the gasoline tank exploded.

There was a time when a propeller blade broke while I had my wife on a flight over New York city. The terrific centrifugal force of the unbalanced propeller tore the engine from its mountings and it hung swinging, with only two drift wires holding it in the plane. Fire started, but I managed to glide down to a safe landing before the engine could start a fire.

LINDY AND ANNE REVISIT HARBOR IN THE MOUETTE

Providence, R. I., June 16.—(P)—Captain Lindbergh of the cruiser Mouette, best known skipper on Long Island sound this season, steered his 38-foot motor craft into New Harbor, Block Island, for a two-hour stop this afternoon.

Block islanders, on the alert for his reappearance and wiser in the ways of reporters than two weeks ago, when they kept the aviator's honeymoon secret because he did "not want any fuss," immediately reported the Mouette's arrival.

Lindbergh made fast to the new dock, but did not come ashore for more than an hour.

John Dunn, island oil dealer, who spoke to Lindy when he came ashore, said the honeymoon navigator is well-tanned. Mrs. Lindbergh remained below decks during the Mouette's stay.

The craft departed in the direction of Long Island after taking aboard 180 gallons of gasoline.

THE RETURN OF TARZAN No. 7

(Metropolitan Newspaper Service)

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

Riding slowly through the moonlit paths of the native quarter, Tarzan was attracted by the wild din coming from one of the numerous cafes. Curious, he decided to look in. Many Arabs were smoking and drinking thick black coffee. With Abdul, his servant, he found seats near the dancing Ouled-Nail girls.

Soon one of these entertainers, spying Tarzan, danced toward him, throwing her silken scarf across his shoulder. He gave her the expected silver coins. Before long the sharp-eyed Abdul observed her talking with two Arabs across the room. Again it came her turn to dance. She hovered close to Tarzan.

Smiling sweetly, despite the scowls of the desert sons, she whirled in her dance, then suddenly bent low above him. "There are two without in the court," she said quickly in broken French, who would harm monsieur. I promised to lure you to them, but I cannot—monsieur has been kind. Go quickly; they are bad men."

Tarzan thanked her, but made no motion to leave. A surly-looking Arab now approached, evidently bent on trouble. Amid sneering laughs from the onlookers, he began heaping abuse upon Tarzan, claiming the dancing-girl had been insulted. The ape-man did not relish being laughed at nor the language. BAIT TO LIMIT TARIFF ON TODAY brood "general revision" on agricultural commodities, accompanied by strictly "limited revision" in fields other than agriculture.

Senate Leaders Confused.

From this program and intention the lower house departed. As to this, there is no longer much argument. In the senate this week, Official Republican Leader Watson was forced by hostile questioners to admit that the tariff bill as written by the house is a "general revision," as respects both agricultural and non-agricultural commodities. Among many similar colloquies, Senator McKellar, of Tennessee, as respects the bill as written by the house: "So it is a general tariff bill and not a limited tariff bill at all?" To that, Senator Watson, ascended, saying: "That is my view of it."

Then Democratic Leader Robinson, turning to the extremely regular republican head of the senate tariff-writing committee, Senator Smoot, prodded the latter into saying: "It ought to be a general revision and should not be taken up for just one class."

G. O. P. Wants More Loot.

Clearly it is fair to assume that the regular republicans in the senate, if not hindered by Senator Borah and his followers, might make an even broader and higher revision of non-agricultural schedules than the bill as written by the house already does.

The regular senate republicans come as a rule from the east and commonly reflect, as respects the tariff, the manufacturing point of view. The manufacturers say plainly that they expect to keep the raises made in the house and hope to get further raises in the senate.

The question now is, how many followers will Senator Borah have? More specifically the question is whether the body of democratic senators will follow Borah on the tariff as nearly unanimously as they followed him on the debenture plan. If they do, Borah will win.

Whatever the outcome of the roll call on the Borah resolution, confusion will follow for a time at least. If Borah wins the eastern senators from manufacturing and consuming states may attack the agricultural rates, especially the one on sugar.

It is useless, however, to speculate on developments subsequent to determination of the Borah resolution. There will be a few days of confusion even greater than attended farm relief. After that, however, there should be general clarification by the end of the present week.

REPUBLICANS MAY WRECK OWN TARIFF MEASURE.

BY BASIL MANLY.

Washington, June 16.—For the first time in the history of the republican party a tariff bill written by that party's leaders is in serious danger of being defeated or torn to pieces when it reaches the floor of the senate. It is now clear from the developments of the last few days that the Hawley-Smoot bill will be subjected to vicious and probably effective attack by both democrats and insurgent republicans.

The era of good feeling toward the protective tariff system born during the last presidential campaign has apparently reached an end and is now about to be succeeded by a period of the most bitter controversy since the subject that has been known since the days of the Payne-Aldrich bill.

Six weeks ago such a forecast would not have been made by even the most optimistic advocate of limited tariff revision. On the contrary, Cordell Hull, the low tariff spokesman in the house, was publicly despondent over the condition of apathy which he encountered in his attempts to oppose the wholesale increases provided for in the Hawley bill. Before that bill had passed the house murmurs of dissatisfaction were being heard in every division of the republican ranks and effective revolt might have been organized if the bill had been subjected to general discussion and amendment on the floor of the house. Instead it was driven through under a "tag rule" which permitted no effective debate or amendment. Under the party whip many republican members who publicly denounced the Hawley rates voted for the bill in order to preserve their regularity.

Party Regularity Gone.

In the senate the situation is exactly reversed. Party regularity has ceased to exist for almost one-third of the nominal republican members and every attempt of the republican leaders to apply heavy pressure during the special session has been followed by an increase in the insurgent ranks. The complete route of the republican regulars in the contest over secret sessions has been followed by an equally significant defeat in the vote on the debenture plan. The refusal of the republican leaders of the house to permit a vote on debentures merely stiffened the opposition in the senate and laid the foundation for an effective coalition of democrats and republican insurgents in opposition to the tariff.

The plans of Senator Reed Smoot, chairman of the finance committee, to hold tariff hearings behind closed doors was upset by the threat of Senator LaFollette, the insurgent republican, to force the matter to an issue on the floor of the senate. Coming on the heels of the defeat on secret executive sessions it was obvious that the Smoot plan would be overwhelmingly defeated and the Utah senator with the wisdom born of long experience gracefully surrendered.

Then came the proposal sponsored by the republican leaders of the house for a long recess coupled with an agreement for a definite date to vote on the tariff bill under conditions that would have seriously restricted effective debate. The bait of a long vacation was attractive to democrats as well as republicans and when the proposal was first presented by majority Leader Watson, of Indiana, it appeared likely to go through by unanimous consent. Once more the insurgent republicans voiced opposition sufficient to destroy any hope of a unanimous consent agreement.

No Limit to Debate.

The republican leaders then seriously considered an attempt to secure the same result by the passage of a resolution limiting debate on the tariff and fixing a date for the vote. Senators Norris and LaFollette served notice that this would be equivalent to a move to apply cloture by a mere majority vote and would, therefore, be in violation of the senate rules. Nevertheless, they were in serious danger of being overridden by a combination of senators anxious to escape hot weather and take their vacations in Europe or in the more temperate regions of the United States. Just at this juncture Senator Robinson, the democratic leader, returned from a trip to the west where he had heard murmurs of revolt against the Smoot-Hawley tariff revision. A democratic conference was hastily called and the minority party was lined up to resist any agreement that would limit the tariff debate.

In the meantime a number of significant developments were taking place. The White House let it be known that 92 per cent of the newspaper comment collected by its comprehensive clipping service was unfavorable to the Hawley bill. Friends of the president also whispered that he personally was greatly dissatisfied with the results of his plea for "limited tariff revision." At about the same time one of the staunchest republican newspapers in Minnesota declared war on the Hawley bill as a fraud on the farmer and an unwarranted bounty to the already protected manufacturing interests. Under its influence petitions were circulated among farmer organizations and local chambers of commerce and protests said to represent more than 300,000 people in Minnesota and the Dakotas have already been signed.

Of perhaps greater national importance two of the largest chains of newspapers with a combined circulation of many millions, which strenuously supported the republican ticket in 1928, opened campaigns of bitter opposition to any general upward revision of the tariff. In cartoons, editorials and news columns they are daily attacking the Hawley rates and denouncing in advance any attempt of Senator Smoot and his colleagues or the finance committee to increase still further the rates provided in the house bill.

Democrats "Take Notice."

These developments have had an astounding effect upon all but the most hard-boiled republican members of the senate. Democrats who refused to take any interest in the subject a month ago are now beginning to study the bill and call for expert assistance from the tariff commission and from the industries which are treated in opposing rate increases. The insurgent republicans, it is known, have already held half a dozen meetings in which they have gone over the bill, paragraph by paragraph, and picked out all of its more vulnerable points for concerted attack. An understanding between the democrats and progressive republicans is in the making for a coalition in opposition to the flexible provisions of the bill which would give the president increased powers to raise the duty. At the same time business interests which are opposed to general upward revision because it would increase the cost of their raw materials are sending their agents to Washington to investigate the situation and give aid and comfort to the opponents of the bill. For perhaps the first time in history the lobbies opposed to any upward revision of the tariff are almost as numerous and active as those which are demanding tariff favors for their industries.

All these signs point to serious difficulties when Senator Smoot brings the bill in its revised and amended form to the floor of the senate. It was perhaps anticipation of these difficulties that caused him to take the unprecedented action of dividing up the schedules among sub-committees so as to make Senators Reed, Edges, Sackett, Shortridge, Watson and Bingham share with him the burden of defending the rates on the floor of the senate. Whether or not this divided leadership and responsibility will prove successful in resisting the expected onslaughts only time can tell, but as an indication of anticipated opposition, this strategic move on the part of the senator from Utah appears to be significant.

Transcontinental Rail-Air

CODEL WRITES OF PERFECT TRIP

Service Is Inaugurated

BY MARTIN CODEL.
En Route on First Transcontinental Rail-Air Journey.

La Junta, Col., June 16.—Transcontinental rail-air transportation has proven itself. It is no dream, no experiment, but a practical, safe, comfortable mode of travel that brings the Atlantic and Pacific oceans within two business days of each other without the slightest inconvenience to the traveler.

That was proven today when we flew 1,067 miles on the flying leg of the first rail-air transcontinental service in the United States inaugurated by Universal Aviation Corporation.

NEW SHOE SOLES 10c
INSTEAD OF $1.25

Inventor Offers Big Sample Free.

An amazing new product has been invented by O. E. Mothershead, which makes it possible for any man, woman, or even a child, to repair worn-out shoe soles in 3 minutes. The cost of repairing a pair of shoes by this remarkable new method is less than 10c. Actual users claim even better results than the old way which costs ten times as much. He-Sole is simply spread over the old sole like butter on bread. It fills up holes, hardens and covers the sole with a tough, smooth surface that looks like leather and resists the hardest wear. It is waterproof, flexible and retains the comfort of the old shoe.

Mr. Mothershead is making an offer whereby anyone may secure a full size sample of this astonishing product (enough to resole 20 shoes) without cost. Simply write him at Suite 200FR, Garret Bldg., Des Moines, Iowa. Mr. Mothershead is also making an attractive offer to agents by which they can make $10 to $15 a day on this fast selling new product. Be sure to write him today.—(adv.)

tion in conjunction with the New York Central lines and the Atchafalaya, Topeka and Santa Fe railway.

Coming into Cleveland this morning, after leaving New York on the Southwestern Limited last night, we stopped for fruit, coffee and rolls at a nice hotel and then were driven to the air port. There three great Tri-Motored Fokker monoplane each carrying 12 passengers, two pilots and a steward were waiting, the engines already warming up.

We were delayed somewhat by the fact that this was the first trip of its kind in this country and a celebration had to be held, but soon we settled back in comfortable upholstered chairs and with a whirl the motors speeded up, pulling us off the ground so quietly we did not realize we were leaving.

Fly To Chicago.

In V formation we left the ground and in V formation we flew to Chicago, the first stop. It was raining when we reached the Cleveland air port. It was raining tonight within a few moments after we landed at Garden City, Kan., to board the Santa Fe for the rest of our journey to Los Angeles, arriving there Monday morning at 9:15 a. m. But as we took the air at Cleveland the sun broke through the clouds making our yellow wings gleam like gold and it kept up its brightness throughout all of our flight, a fine omen for this new era in aviation.

Cleveland gave us a great send off. Chicago a great welcome. We were further delayed by the celebration there and were 35 minutes late in getting off. Some of us began to wonder whether we would get through on the schedule, but we had not reckoned on the wisp engines which power these great air liners. With the throttle only half open they cruise at 112 miles an hour, but they can be stepped up to 135 without damage to the engine, or to 145 if necessary.

Ahead of Schedule.

Across the Fox river we flew, then out of Illinois over the Mississippi into Iowa, and then came the Muddy Missouri. We dropped down to Fairfax airport at Kansas City five minutes ahead of schedule.

More than a thousand persons greeted us there. Bands played, the radio broadcast and we were princes for a day at least. We had a good breakfast at Chicago on the field, following the light repast at Cleveland. At Kansas City we had a fine luncheon: tables, linen, dishes and everything. No camping out nor eating from thermos jars in the air, real food and real service.

Again the ceremonies incident to an inaugural held us up. Through into Kansas City on time, we were 40 minutes late getting out. A stiff head wind bucked us. Over scores of miles of waving wheat fields we flew with a 22 calibre rifle so low were we. Westbound the planes fly low. Eastbound they fly high. That is because the prevailing winds are from the west. Bucking them, it is best to fly low, where they are not so strong. Going with them it is best to go high, where a mile to get their full benefit.

Arrive At Gordon City.

And then a miracle, it seemed we suddenly sighted a crowd of automobiles, a big field with a white circle in the center, a new hangar. The whirl of the engines stopped as the pilot cut them off to land. Softly we slid down. Our wheels touched the ground without noise. The pilot applied the brakes, we drew to a gentle stop and then taxied to the hangar. We were in Garden City, Kansas, and we were there on time at 5:20 p. m., having left Cleveland at 7:30 a. m., and having covered 1,067 miles in the meantime.

Autos took us to the station. Our baggage was taken care of for us. We had time enough to stretch, walk around and compare experiences with those in the other planes. Then the California Limited pulled in. We boarded it, had a fine dinner in the dining car and went to bed, the first in the world to make such a journey. As this is read at the breakfast table we will be speeding through New Mexico after a splendid night's rest.

KEEP BABY ALIVE

AFTER HIS LUNGS

QUIT FUNCTIONING

Chicago, June 15.—(United News.) Given the breath of life through a small rubber tube attached to an inhalator, Raymond Di Chiara, 16 months old, was still alive today, the fourth day since he was stricken with acute bronchial pneumonia. Firemen working in shifts of two are administering oxygen to the infant under the direction of Dr. John Pishojta, who has remained at the little white crib almost ceaselessly since lung congestion became acute. More than 30 small tanks and 14 large tanks of oxygen have been used. Each shift of firemen is kept on duty only a few hours.

DAVIS ON PEACE.

Secretary Wants War Money
Spent on Peace.

Philadelphia, June 16.—(AP)—Secretary of Labor James J. Davis, in an address here today declared that if one-half the money spent in preparation for war could be spent in preparation for peace, "we would have a peace pact within one year that would bind the world and rule out war for all time to come."

Secretary Davis was addressing the annual flag and field day exercises of the Philadelphia lodge of Elks. "It is hoped," Mr. Davis said, "that all other peoples and their governments will heed the call of President Hoover to cut down armaments and end this race to outdo each other in those preparations for war that generally bring war."

Rebel Defeated.

Maracaibo, Venezuela, June 16.—(AP)—General Urbina, who recently led a raid of Venezuelan rebels on Willemstad, Curacao, was reported today to have fled to the mountains with only 30 followers remaining to him. He was defeated in his attack on Coro.

NEW ORLEANIAN SLAYS

WOMAN, KILLS SELF

No Motive Found for Murder in Residential Section.

New Orleans, June 16.—(AP)—Herbert Eden, 55, manager of the New Orleans industrial canal, today shot and killed Mrs. Joseph Meyer, 24, and then fatally wounded himself. The shooting occurred on a suburban residential street.

The shooting, police said, occurred when Eden, driving his own automobile, followed a machine in which Mrs. Meyer was riding with another woman and man until he was able to gain a position alongside their car. He then reported to have fired his pistol upon the woman, then quickly turning it on himself.

Eden, police said, followed the car in which Mrs. Meyer was riding for many blocks before he drew up near enough to shoot.

Mrs. Meyer's husband is in New York, having left here a week ago on a business trip which was to have carried him later to Porto Rico. Police visited Eden's office after the shooting and found only a brief note, scribbled on a pad which might throw light on the shooting. It read: "10:30 a. m., a lady called."

Later, police said, two men and a woman, companions of Mrs. Meyer when she was shot, had been questioned but offered no suggestion of a motive for Eden's action. They fled before the shots were actually fired, the officers declared.

Miss Percy Moise, who lived at the home of the Meyers, along with Michael Morasco, 25, and William Weilbacher, 24, were riding with the woman when Eden drove up near them and brandished a pistol, the two men told police. They said they immediately jumped from the automobile and ran.

Morasco said a few minutes before the shooting the party had driven to the industrial canal to carry luncheon to Russell, brother of Mrs. Meyer. Morasco is a bank-teller and Weilbacher a shoe salesman.

AFRICAN ELECTION

Premier Hertzog Gets Majority of Supporters.

Cape Town, South Africa, June 16.—(AP)—The final results of the South African general elections show that Premier J. B. Hertzog's nationalist party won a majority of eight over all other parties in the new assembly. With the wing of the labor party which supported them in the last house, the government supporters hold a majority of 36 over the South African party opposition, led by General Jan Christian Smuts, former premier.

PLANE PROPELLER

DECAPITATES MAN

ON ALABAMA FARM

Midland City, Ala., June 16.—(AP)—Guy Metcalf, 32, was decapitated here tonight when he walked into the propeller of an airplane S. Hall, St. Louis pilot, brought down on Metcalf's farm near here after becoming lost in the darkness.

Hall en route from St. Louis to Albany, Ga., had gone to Metcalf's home for aid, leaving the motor of the plane idling. Metcalf failed to see the moving propeller when he returned with the pilot to the ship.

Metcalf is survived by a wife and two children. The pilot remained here tonight.

BOY, 18, SENTENCED

TO 105,921 DAYS

IN TEXAS PRISON

Houston, Texas, June 16.—(United News.)—Tony Gorsus, 18, in anything but downhearted, and when he was sentenced to jail on several counts of robbery recently, he smiled. "Only 105,921 days to go. That's easy," Tony said.

He had just been sentenced to 90 years in jail, but it didn't bother Tony much as he sat down to figure how many days he would have to spend in prison.

Yale Divinity Dean Delivers Baccalaureate at Georgia

Athens, Ga., June 16.—(AP)—Dean Halford E. Kocock, of Yale divinity school, today warned University of Georgia graduates that they must put material progress in its proper perspective, else it will dominate their being and thus put a blight upon their lives. Delivering the baccalaureate sermon to the 1936 graduating class, Dean Kocock declared: "I would advocate for you and for all America a resolute, belligerent attitude toward all things that blight the instruments of material progress are modern scientific miracles, but we are permitting them to darken rather than enlighten our spiritual horizon. The recent announcement that $8,000,000 has been invested in a single movie theater is significant. There we have an $8,000,000 frame for a 3-cent picture, an apt parallel of modern day progress."

The radio, the airplane, the automobile, unless they enlarge our spiritual horizon, merely nurse us into a false security that the world's progressing. Most of us have lost our incentive to fight for spiritual security, smug in our belief that the attainment of a material goal means success."

Dean Kocock is the first of three educators who will address the graduates and undergraduates of the university during commencement, which begins with today's exercises in chapel. The others are Dr. Edwin Mims, head of the English department, Vanderbilt university, who will deliver the annual Phi Beta Kappa oration tomorrow night, and Dr. Henry Suzzallo, of the Carnegie foundation, who will give the baccalaureate address on Wednesday, the closing day of commencement, except for social events.

Graduates and alumni of the university were in possession of Athens tonight, perhaps 100 of an estimated 400 alumni had arrived tonight. The majority of the old grads were expected to arrive tomorrow afternoon for Alumni Day on Tuesday. Monday will be under graduate day, with speeches in chapel and elsewhere.

DEVOTED BURIED

Gaelic Leader Who Died in United States Honored.

Dublin, Irish Free State, June 16.—(AP)—The body of John Devoy, Gaelic leader who died in Atlantic City last September, was buried with full military honors today beside other Fenian leaders in Glasnevin cemetery. Father O'Donnell, of Boston, one of the large American contingent present, in a funeral oration at the grave, said there had been no more consistent champion of Irish liberties than Mr. Devoy.

THIRD ATTEMPT TO KILL HIMSELF PROVES SUCCESS

Lebanon, Pa., June 16.—(AP)—David Fiddler, 43, wanted to die. Four weeks ago neighbors found him unconscious, hanging to the rafters in a barn. They cut the rope and hurried for a physician. When they returned Fiddler was gone. Later he was found in a woods a half mile away with bullet wounds in his abdomen and head. He recovered. A week ago a terrific explosion was heard before dawn at the stone quarry where Fiddler was foreman. His body was found today in a water hole into which he had fallen after setting off 100 sticks of dynamite.

LONGEST AIR MAIL ROUTE IN WORLD TO OPEN TUESDAY

Miami, Fla., June 16.—(AP)—First air mail service between the United States and cities in Colombia, South America, and Curacao, Dutch West Indies, will be inaugurated over the Pan-American Airways Tuesday morning. The inauguration of the new service extends air mail service from Miami, 3,500 miles and spans 10 countries on the longest air mail route in the world.

The air mail route is an extension of the Miami to Cristobal, Canal Zone service, which was inaugurated by Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh last February.

VIENNA BUILDS

City Will Spend $66,000,000 on Modern Flats.

Vienna, Austria, June 16.—(AP)—The Vienna municipal government will spend $66,500,000 in building 30,000 flats to accommodate the increased population. Under the bill passed by parliament yesterday, the federal government will advance 60 per cent of the cost.

Americans See King.

Rome, June 16.—(AP)—King Victor Emmanuel today received official members of the World Congress of Librarians, including the full American delegation. Each was introduced personally and in the informal conversation the king asked several questions concerning recent developments in library methods.

HUGE ALCOHOL THEFT CONFESSED BY YOUTH

Says He and Accomplices Stole 42,000 Gallons From Distillery.

Prescott, Ark., June 16.—(AP)—Sheriff E. H. Weaver was en route to New Orleans tonight with Harold Richards, a New Orleans youth held here on a theft charge, to appear before the federal grand jury in connection with an alleged theft of 42,000 gallons of alcohol from a distillery, to which Richards is alleged to have confessed his complicity to Sheriff Weaver yesterday.

Sheriff Weaver said he overheard a long distance telephone conversation Richards had with his mother in New Orleans, asking her to procure from an accomplice money with which to secure his release from jail here on a charge of stealing an automobile.

Richards, in his alleged confession, implicated Charles Lanby, superintendent of a distillery, and Tony and Julian Uchello, all of New Orleans, and Charles Vogt, who was arrested with Richards here, according to Weaver.

Sheriff Weaver said Richards told him he and the others had stolen the alcohol from the distillery, which he said was located on the waterfront, and piloted a small vessel to a rendezvous.

Richards, according to the sheriff, said he was willing to "tell all" to a special grand jury and willingly left with him.

AMERICANS WED IN PAPAL STATE; FIRST FROM U. S.

Vatican City, June 16.—(AP)—The first American wedding to be solemnized within the confines of the newly created Vatican state tomorrow will join Frank D. Comerford, president of the New England Power Association, and Miss Mary M. McLaughlin, a graduate of Simmons college and Boston University law school. Both bride and bridegroom were born in Worcester and Monsignor Francis J. Spolman, of Whitman, Mass., will be the celebrant in one of the private chapels of Saint Peter's basilica. Mr. Comerford is also vice president and treasurer of the International Paper & Power Co. and Miss McLaughlin was assistant to the late G. Stanley Hall when he was president of Clark university, of Worcester.

TEXAS ENTERPRISE MAKES HOUSTON IMPORTANT PORT

Washington, June 16.—(AP)—The board of engineers for rivers and harbors of the war department declared tonight in its revised report on the development of the port of Houston, Texas, that "it is an important gateway for import and export trade, made possible largely by the 'enterprise of the city.'"

The report, which is one of a series on the principal ports of the United States, was prepared to meet the needs of the war department and the shipping board in the development of harbors and encouragement and betterment of port facilities with a view to the promotion of water transportation.

POPE ELEVATES DELACOLMBIERE TO BLESSED RANK

Vatican City, June 16.—(AP)—Father Claudio de la Colombiere, Jesuit founder of the world-wide devotion to the Sacred Heart of Jesus, gained the rank of the blessed today at third beatification in St. Peter's this month.

Many Americans, including a special pilgrim group of 150 members of the League of the Sacred Heart led by Father Charles J. Mullaly, participated in the ceremonies. St. Peter's was elaborately decorated, especially the niche containing the statue of St. Ignatius, founder of the Jesuits, and the altar to the Sacred Heart of Jesus and St. Margaret Alacoque. In the afternoon Pope Pius, accompanied by cardinals, venerated the beatified and remained for benediction at which the pontifical blessing was imparted.

St. Peter's was partly illuminated tonight and a statue dedicated to the Sacred Heart of Jesus erected on Janiculum hill near the general headquarters of the Jesuits, was unveiled.

Hoover Appoints Delegates to Road Meeting in Brazil

Washington, June 16.—(AP)—The state department tonight announced the appointment by President Hoover of eight American delegates to the second Pan-American highway conference meeting at Rio De Janeiro August 16.

J. Walter Drake, of Detroit, is named as member of other members of the delegation are H. H. Rice, of Detroit; Senator Tasker L. Oddie, Nevada, and Representative Cyrus Cole, republican, Iowa, representing the legislative branch of the government; Thomas H. MacDonald, chief of the United States bureau of public roads, who will serve as technical member and economic advisor of this commission; Frank Sheets, of Illinois, and C. M. Babcock, of Minnesota, representing the state highway departments, and Frederick J. Bremer, president of the American Road Builders Association.

The commission will serve as official representatives of the American government, congress having authorized its appointment by the president.

DePriest Invites Solons To Negro Benefit Musicale

OMITS CAROLINIAN WHO REFUSED CLOSE OFFICE

Washington, June 16.—Fresh impetus has been given tonight here in regard to the White House tea last Wednesday, at which the wife of the negro congressman from Illinois, Oscar DePriest, was a guest. This comes through invitations sent by DePriest to all but two of the republican members of the house and senate to be present at the huge Washington auditorium Friday night.

The two left out of the DePriest list are Representatives George M. Pritchard, of North Carolina, and Albert H. Vestal, of Indiana. The first named refused to accept an office assigned to him because it was next to that of the negro congressman, activity of Mrs. Vestal in relation to a proposed blackballing of the negroes from membership in the Congressional Club, a semi-official organization here.

Knoxville Given Jewish Community Center Building

Knoxville, Tenn., June 16.—(AP)—A community center for the Jewish residents of Knoxville will be erected immediately through donations by Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Aronstein, it was announced by Rabbi Milton Greenwald at Temple Beth-el today. The building will consist of an auditorium with a seating capacity of 600, a gymnasium, banquet hall, library and classrooms for the religious school.

M. B. Aronstein has been one of the principal business figures in the city for many years. Mrs. Aronstein has been killed out by a mule.

HUSBAND JAILED AS BIGAMUS WIFE CHARGES ASSAULT

New Orleans, June 16.—(AP)—How her husband, whom she declared to be a bigamist, wanted in Memphis, she began calling for help and declared that only by attracting three men in a boat near-by was she saved.

On reaching Michoud station, she called police and charged Allison with bigamy, declaring he had a living wife at Memphis and another at Point Clair, Ala. Allison was arrested on charges of assault, being a fugitive and bigamy.

HONGKONG WATER FAMINE IS SERIOUS

Officials Dole Out Limited
Quantity to Thirsty
Thousands.

Hongkong, June 16.—(P)—Thousands of thirsty persons lined up at the water stations today in the bright sun and heat awaiting dols of the precious liquid. The rain of yesterday totaled only half an inch, hardly a trickle in the yawning reservoirs.

The government views the situation now as "increasingly serious" and is therefore extending its emergency plans and providing for increased storage and tankage. It is considering converting the naval drydock into a huge reservoir for the water supplies brought by steamships.

Investigation today revealed that five out of the six reservoirs on this island were practically empty. It was estimated that there now is in storage about 200,000,000 gallons, compared with the normal amount of 2,000,000,000 gallons. Kowloon, on the mainland, is in the same predicament, having only 9,000,000 gallons, instead of the 500,000,000 needed.

Official circles emphasized that this

Tired and Achy
Mornings?

Too Often This Warns of Sluggish Kidneys.

MORNING find you stiff, achy
all worn out?

Feel tired and drowsy—suffer
nagging backache, headache and dizzy spells?

Are the kidney excretions too frequent, scanty or burning? Too often this indicates sluggish kidneys and shouldn't be neglected.

Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, increase the activity of the kidneys and aid in the elimination of waste impurities. Users everywhere endorse Doan's.

50,000 Users Endorse Doan's:

E. Rhode, 1520 Adams St., N. E., Minneapolis, Minn., says: "I was bothered with a dull ache across my back and after bedtime I could hardly strap myself. My kidneys were not acting normally and my rest was often broken at night. After taking Doan's Pills my kidneys acted better and the backache left me."

Be sure to get your money's worth

IT'S your money. You've earned it. It will be spent.
For fuel, clothes, furniture, food, all sorts of necessities . . . and if there's any left, for luxuries.

The way to make that hard-earned money go farthest is to purchase products of certain value. Products backed by well-known manufacturers. Products that are widely bought and used, that are carefully and painstakingly kept to high standards of quality, and that have been found over and over again to give full worth. Advertised products!

When you buy a watch or a rake, a set of china or a radio set that is advertised in The Constitution, you are buying a product whose maker is willing to talk about it, tell about it, put what he knows about it in print and sign his name to it. When you buy advertised merchandise by name, you get the utmost of purchasing value from every dollar.

Because it doesn't pay to advertise poor products,
it does pay to buy those advertised.

WOMAN'S COLLEGE Career Extends 3 Administrations

Milledgeville, Ga., June 16.—(Special.)—Mrs. Katherine Greer Tunnell, who was awarded a bachelor of science degree at the Georgia State

MRS. S. C. TUNNELL.

College for Women graduation, has had a college career that extended over the administration of three presidents.

She entered school in 1904, when the late Dr. J. Harris Chappell was president. She obtained her collegiate normal diploma in 1906 in the first year of the administration of Dr.
M. M. Parks, and she was awarded her degree this year under President
J. L. Beeson.

Mrs. Tunnell, who is the wife of
G. H. Tunnell, general agent for the Georgia railroad here, was president of her class in 1906. There were 38 in the two-year class in which she received her diploma, and there were 118 in the degree class in which she received her degree.

She was the first graduate ever to come back to the college under the system of honor scholarships which was instituted by the late Dr. Parks.
She was librarian of the college from 1906 to 1910, and again from 1918 to 1919. She is a native of Russell.

Foresters at Asheville.

Raleigh, N. C., June 16.—(P)— Asheville, N. C., has been named the convention city for the Association of State Foresters next October 7-10, it was announced here yesterday by State Forester J. S. Holmes, president of the national association. Mr.
Holmes announced the selection of Asheville after a mail vote of the executive committee. Cities in New Jersey, Georgia and Louisiana competed with Asheville for the meet.

MEXICAN-WAR VETERAN DIES AT AGE OF 101

Buckner Is Thought To Be Second to Last of Group.

Paris, Mo., June 16.—(P)—William Fitzhugh Thornton Buckner, 101 years old, oldest and believed to have been next to the last surviving veteran of the Mexican War, died at his home here today.

Buckner died unexpectedly soon after he arose at 6 a. m. today. Although he had been in retirement since 1912, the aged veteran was able to be out and around his home town most of the time. He had walked down town only last Friday. He celebrated his one hundred and first birthday last January 27.

Buckner was a Paris banker from 1871 until 1912. He served through the Mexican War and spent virtually all of the remainder of his life here.
Information here was that he and
Owen Thomas Ace, of Washington, D. C., were the only survivors of the Mexican War.

Funeral services for the veteran will be held at his home here Tuesday morning. He is survived by five daughters.

sion had been granted.)

THOMAS C. BLEDSOE, CARROLLTON MAN, PASSES AT HOME

Carrollton, Ga., June 16.—(Special.)—Thomas Chandler Bledsoe, 69, died at his home here early this morning.

Mr. Bledsoe was former mayor for a number of years, a life-time member of light and water commission and serving as chairman of that board. He was senior deacon of the First Baptist church, of which he had been a member since his early youth.
The funeral will take place at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon, conducted by Rev. C. C. Tooke.

He is survived by his wife, daughters, Mrs. Glenn Holmes, Mrs. I. C.
Lottin and Mrs. Creel, all of Carrollton; three sons, Dr. George Bledsoe, of Cullman, Ala.; Dr. Harry Bledsoe, of Fairburn; Robert Bledsoe, of Presidio, Texas; two brothers, Bailey Bledsoe, of Gilmer, Texas, and Will Bledsoe, of Atlanta, and eight grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

LEE BOULEVARD TO FEATURE BUSINESS MEN'S MEETING

A Robert E. Lee Memorial boulevard jubilee will mark the regular monthly meeting of the West End Business Men's Association in the Sunday school annex of West End Baptist church Monday night at 8 o'clock, according to plans of officials.

C. H. Livsey, of East Point, general chairman of the memorial project, together with his several committee heads, will report the progress of negotiations at either end of the 10-mile highway. The main stretch, from McCall's crossing to East Point,

PATROLMAN MORGAN SLIGHTLY IMPROVED

Doctors Now Believe Officer Has Even Chance To Recover.

Patrolman O. M. Morgan, who was shot Friday night on Lee street in a shooting affair in which Dr. Thomas A. Spears was killed, was reported to be slightly improved at Grady hospital Sunday night.

Doctors reported that Morgan rested comfortably during most of the day and that he talked a bit during the afternoon and expressed the hope that he could win the battle for life
and continue to recover.

Although he rested easily for the most part, Mr. Morgan suffered intense pains at times, but doctors stated that if no complications set in,
the officer would have an even chance to recover.

has already been definitely worked out and the county commission will proceed with construction as soon as funds are available.

Jack Savage, assistant city attorney, will deliver the principal address of the evening and present a civic analysis of Atlanta which he recently completed.

Dr. W. Beecher DuVall, president of the South Fulton Civic Federation, will speak on civic progress in south
Fulton county, and review the boulevard project. He will also make known a plan to establish an additional grammar school in the Cascade avenue section.

A message from the board of directors is also expected from the chairman, Hewitt Chambers, in which some interesting plans for exploiting West End's advantages will be discussed.

GOTHAM GANGSTER SLAIN IN FIGHT WITH FOUR MEN

New York, June 16.—(P)—An argument engaged in by five men on the west side today ended with the firing of four shots, three of which struck and killed James Flannagan, 27, described by police as a longshoreman,
former convict and gangster.

Police first learned of the shooting
when a patrolman stopped two men who were carrying a third man into Roosevelt hospital. The patrolman investigated and discovered the third man, whom the other two said they believed was intoxicated, was dead with three bullet wounds in the body.

The two men were taken to police station and detectives sent to investigate, learned from a woman whose name police withheld that she was leaning out of her window in West 60th street and saw five men arguing in the street below. She said a taxicab was standing nearby and the argument was ended by the firing of at least four shots, after which two men ran away. Two others, she said, lifted the body of the fifth man, who had been wounded, into the taxicab and drove away.

DIRECTOR REWEDS WIFE WHO LEFT HIM FOR STAGE

Chicago, June 16.—(P)—Edwin Carrawe, motion picture director, and Mary Akin, film star, were remarried today at the home of the bride's sister in Suburban Heights.

The couple was first married in 1926. They were divorced in Mexico in July, 1928.

The bride's mother, Mrs. Carrie A.
Akin; her sister, Mrs. W. A. Gibson; Mr. Carrawe's brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Finis Fox, together with half a dozen family friends, witnessed the ceremony.

Mrs. Carrawe, a former Chicago
high school girl, entered motion pictures as a Sennett bathing girl and rose to stardom under Carrawe's direction. They have two children.

BURGESS CHILDREN'S STORIES

JENNY FINDS A QUEER INSECT

By Thornton W. Burgess.

Every day brings something new; it not to me, perhaps to you.

—Jenny Wren.

Hungry babies require a great deal of food and this is especially true of hungry bird babies. You see, bird babies have to grow very fast. They sometimes eat more than their own weight in food in a day. So that means that while they are tiny and helpless, Mother and Father must work very hard to get food enough for them.

Did you ever stop to think how simple the matter of getting food is for us humans? We just go out and buy it. We know just where to go for it. But it is very different with the bird people and the animal people. They not only have got to go get it and bring it home to their babies, but they have got to hunt for it before they can get it. Now, in Jenny Wren's nest in the clovepin bag hanging in the shed back of Farmer Brown's house were six hungry mouths. So there were three apiece for Jenny and Mr. Wren.

It is well that the Wrens have sharp eyes. If they didn't have, I am afraid it would be impossible for them to find food enough to feed the big families they raise every year. Jenny Wren long ago learned that bugs and worms and insects are found in all sorts of places. This is how it happened that she was searching inside the shed where her nest was. She had discovered that there were spiders in there, and spiders are very good eating for those who like them. So every day she made a thorough search of the woodshed, hopping about over the neatly piled stowaways, peering and poking into every corner and crevice.

So it was that one morning she happened to discover a queer insect. At least, he was queer to Jenny. Her body was made up of many little parts joined together, called segments. He had long legs and there were 15 pairs of them! Jenny hadn't the slightest idea who this queer fellow was, or what family he belonged to. Actually, he was a Centipede, one known in the House Centipede, because he is often found in houses. But Jenny had only interest in him as a supply of food for hungry babies. So she darted at him just as he was disappearing in a crack.

Much to Jenny's disgust, she was just a trifle too late. All she got was one of the Centipede's legs—one of those long legs. Of course, a leg was of no use to her, so she dropped it. She peered into the crack where

She had discovered that there were spiders in there.

the Centipede had disappeared. She hoped she might be able to get her bill in there and pull him out. But the Centipede had disappeared and Jenny knew that it was a waste of time for her to wait around for him to come out again.

"I'll probably have a chance to catch him some other day," she said. "I'll just keep an eye on this crack over here. I'll get more than a leg next time or my name isn't Jenny Wren! Hello, what's that? It sounds to me as if there is an insect of some sort chirping around here."

She cocked her head on one side to listen. She could hear a faint squeak, like the sound of some small insect. There was no question about it. Her bright eyes ran over everything about her. They studied the place where the squeak seemed to come from. Not a living thing was to be seen anywhere, not even a little red ant. Nothing moved excepting that leg from the Centipede. That leg just where she had thrown it and it kept twitching. Jenny had seen

THE TWINS, HAROLD AND OLIVER, ARE BACK FROM THEIR FANCY SCHOOL IN MASSACHUSETTS. THEIR FANCY CLOTHES MADE THE REST OF US LOOK LIKE RUBES. THIS IS THE FIRST TIME WE SAW THEM SINCE CHRISTMAS. WE CAN'T GET USED TO THEM.

OLIVER IS NOT SO BAD, BUT HAROLD HAS HIGH IDEAS. HE SAID, "SAY! HOW CAN YOU KIDS STAND THIS OLD BOX OF A HOUSEBOAT?" I SAID, "WE DON'T MIND IT! IT'S OUR HEADQUARTERS!" HAROLD LAUGHED, "YOU SURE GOT A FINE DUMP!" HE SAID.

HAROLD LAUGHED AND WALKED AWAY, AND I SAW THAT OUR FELLOWS FELT BADLY ABOUT WHAT HE HAD SAID. SEEMED LIKE IT WASN'T FIVE MINUTES BEFORE WE ALL WALKED OUT. NONE OF US MADE A MOVE TO GO IN THE BOAT AGAIN.

SAT ON A LOG AND BEGAN TO THINK: HOW WE ALL THOUGHT OUR HEADQUARTERS WAS SUCH A FINE PLACE, AND NOW, SINCE IT WAS CALLED DUMP, NONE OF US KIDS LIKE IT ANYMORE. OUR FUN WAS SPOILED FOR TODAY. Sack

too many legs twitch to be interested by that. All she was interested in was getting something quickly to feed those hungry babies over in the nest. But though she quickly hunted all around, she couldn't find that chirping insect.

BEAUTY FASHIONS

A PRACTICAL UNDERGARMENT. 6217. Silk crepe was used in this instance, with file edging for trimming. This style is also good for crepe de Chine, with a finish of hemstitching or in batiste with edging of lace. Pounce in a natural shade with piping of a contrasting color is nice, as is also voile in any pastel shade or white with bindings of organdy. This model has shaped shoulders, and a pointed front outline on the upper portion of the garment, to which the wide step-in sections are joined. The pattern is cut in four sizes: small, 34-36; medium, 38-40; large, 42-44; extra large, 46-48 inches bust measure. To make this pleasing style for a medium size will require 2 1/4 yards of material 36 inches wide or wider. To trim neck, armholes and step-in edges as illustrated will require 6 3/4 yards of lace or edging. Pattern mailed to any address on receipt of 10c in silver or stamps. Send 12c in silver or stamps for our up-to-date spring and summer 1929 book of fashions. Address orders to Beauty Fashion Dept., care The Constitution, Atlanta, Georgia.

550 TIERS ARE CHIC.

Perhaps you have hesitated to make a tiered frock because you have thought it would be so difficult. I'm going to show you how simple it will be to make style No. 550 with flattering sunburst neckline. It is one-piece! Close side and shoulder seams. The tiers are stitched to dress following perforated lines provided for same. The belt slips through bound openings and ties in low at side. The dress is cut from neck at center-front and underlaid and rolled to form the revers. It is designed in sizes 16, 18, 20, 22, 24, 26, 28, 30, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust. It is sketched in honey-beige silk crepe, a smart choice for general summer daytime occasions, because it can be worn in town or for beach. Printed silk crepe, georgette crepe, flowered chiffon, printed voile, rajah silk and handkerchief linen are other lovely ideas for its development. Pattern price 15 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred). Wrap coin carefully.

We suggest that when you send for this pattern, you enclose 10 cents additional for a copy of our fashion magazine. It's just filled with delightful styles, including smart ensembles and cute designs for the kiddies.

After the first few wearings—its looks depend on the kind of dry cleaning you give it.

GIVE your clothes the advantage of our exquisite dry cleaning. Our method is to first make the garment thoroughly clean, then to give special attention to re-beautifying it in all the little details,—of the cloth, the cut of the garment, and the trimming.

In these plants dry cleaning is more than removing the dust from a dress or suit. It's bringing the garment to life—renewing the good looks it used to have. Forgive us if we repeat again and again—that, to our experts—dry cleaning is a fine art!

Few cities in America can boast such fine dry cleaning at prices so low:

R. J. Spiller, who owns, holds in trust, has sold, for your choice, the Atlanta baseball club, and the Atlanta Youth, was in a jovial mood Sunday afternoon as he sashayed around the latter property that was crawling with sunburned humanity.

His Crackers' off in Mobile were winning their 14th game out of the last 17 played, or maybe it was the 12th out of 15, just as if they belonged to the American league instead of the mere Southern.

In other words they were still in the midst of compiling a winning streak that would have been hailed as marvelous had it come at any time save when they were on the auction block.

Extra, Extra.
The author of these lines, who has to work Sundays the same as other plutocrats, telephoned R. J. Spiller that old "Red" Oldham had just beaten the Bears, 7 to 5.

"Fins" sez, "can you beat that sort of baseball?"
"What do you want to sell the club for, anyhow?" I asked, struck with a bright idea.

"Well, to tell the truth I don't," he replied heartily. "I might as well call the whole deal off, give Griffith $5,000 back, win the pennant and sell the club in the fall for $867,450."

Visions of a headline: "Spiller Cancels Griffith Contract; Returns Bender Money," danced around.

But then I've seen too many headlines and heard too many impulsive utterances in the past few days to believe anything.

Worried?
It is odd how that baseball club has picked up since it was placed on the block in the slave market. The Crackers have staged a drive that at any other time would have made town heroes out of them. As it is, nobody has noticed them.

The boys have been playing under the handicap of not knowing whether they would awake in the morning with a contract or a railroad ticket under the pillow. Did I say handicap?

You said it.
Now if the Cracker owner asks me, I'll advise him to keep this sale on the stove all summer; keep Griffith behind the door as a purchaser about to leap out and claim his own; keep a few ball players on hand to Atlanta to replace weak sisters.

The terrific handicap, the nervous strain has been GREAT for the club.
Ho, hum, it's great to be smart and solve everybody's problems.

Hitches in Deal.
Three hitches in the deal were reported from Washington when "The Old Fox" gave out his 14th final interview. Opposition from Southern league club owners, alleged financial tangle in which the property was involved and certain legal snarls in the laws of the District of Columbia.

The Athletic Club box on the third base line, however, discovered several other obstacles. Such great legal minds as Daley, Reynolds, Tichenor and Horace Holleman drew up a bill Saturday as follows:

(1) Griffith had planned to pay for the club in Confederate money and had been unable to find any when he returned home.
(2) A dispute as to whether Sam, the grounds-keeper, went with the franchise.

(3) A disagreement between Messrs. Griffith, Eynon and Engel as to which would operate the swimming pool.
(4) Fear that eventually the property would pass into control of the lawyers involved.

It was the sense of the meeting, finally, that Exception No. 4 was certain to result.

Atlanta Rifle Club Beats 4 Army Teams

First Series of Postal Matches Held—Local Team Makes Large Scores.

First of a series of postal matches between the Atlanta Rifle Club, the 22nd Infantry, Georgia National Guard of Atlanta and the 121st Infantry Georgia National Guard of Macon and Barnesville were held Sunday. Each team fired on their own ranges and certified scores were mailed to Major G. P. Craddock, of Barnesville, state secretary of the National Rifle Association.

In the Atlanta matches the Atlanta club won over four teams from the 22nd infantry by a score of 1,164 to 1,149 for the team of Company F, 122nd, who placed second.

Second Lieutenant J. A. Norman, Company F, was high individual for the match with 245 out of a possible 250.

Captain Spencer, Company C, won second place with 243-250.

E. M. Sasser, of the Atlanta club, placed third with 240-250. Team scores are as follows:

Team	Score
Atlanta Rifle Club	1,164
Company F, 122nd Inf.	1,149
Company C, 122nd Inf.	1,143
Company B, 122nd Inf.	1,138
Company A, 122nd Inf.	1,132

The following members of the Atlanta Rifle Club fired for record, but were not entered in the team competition:

DIXIE GOLFERS ARE GATHERING FOR TOURNEY

Annual Amateur Battle Starts Tuesday at Belle Meade, Nashville.

Nashville, Tenn., June 16. (United News)—Golfers from all over the south are gathering in Nashville for the 27th southern amateur golf tournament, which will be played over the course at Bellemeade Country Club, beginning Tuesday and continuing through Saturday.

The stars of the Dixie courses are coming to contest for the crown which is now worn by Watts Gunn, and which the brilliant Atlantan will not defend, due to his having changed his residence outside the zone.

It will be a fast and high-stepping field as golfers from Dixie tee off in the event over the famous course. The field is already fast, and unless George Livingstone, the club professional, is blessed with an abundance of rain to soften his greens, and fairways, the course also will be fast.

Yet despite the shortage of rain, Livingstone has groomed his course into what should be one of the hardest tests of golf in Dixie. The course has been lengthened, the fairways made narrower and the roughs harder and much deeper. It will be a real test.

Par on the course is 70. It originally was 71, but the 18th hole has been made a par four instead of five. Eighteen is a two shotter, which requires a long drive and a well-placed iron. Par on the first nine is 34, and it is supposed to take 36 on the home side. The second and sixth are 38 on the first nine, while the rest are 48. On the home side there are two par 3s and two par 5s which, all in all, makes a well-balanced card.

Wrestling Fans Promised Action
Joe Rogacki, who wrestles on Matchmaker Earl McGroarty's card Tuesday night is one of those hard-boiled babies. It was in his home town in Poland that the children played liddledeewinks with manhole covers.

Joe Rogacki is to meet John Freburg in the semi-windup of the Paul Jones-Mike Rembert match Tuesday night at the auditorium, the tough Scott who wrestled here some time ago was supposed to be the toughest boy of all. These two birds make him look like a parlor pink.

The feature match will be a great one. Rembert weighs 197 pounds. Jones weighs a pound or so less. Both are young and up near the top in the grappling business.

It isn't often that a promoter can put on two matches with four experienced professionals as headliners.

A. A. A. officials, however, ruled the race did not end until the drivers not involved in the crash up when the race was down in the 121st lap when the race began collapsing.

The following is the revised standing of the drivers, with the prizes they will receive:

Six Sport Figures Eying Titles

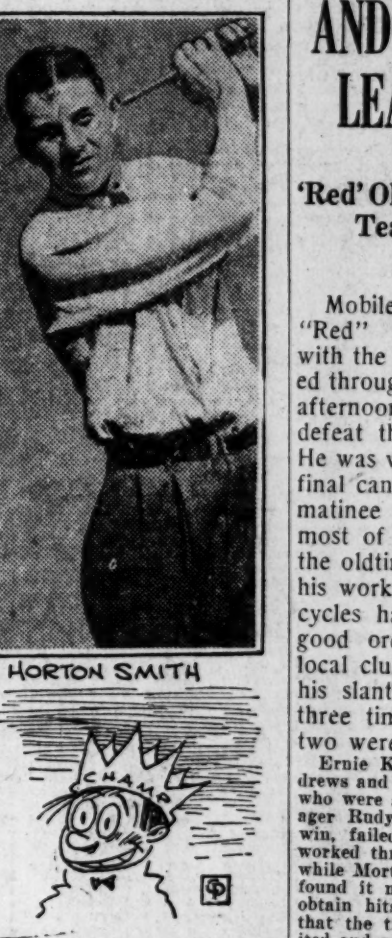

Before October's chilly winds chase away the summer sport season six prominent sport figures may be title holders. Connie Mack's Philadelphia Athletics and Joe McCarthy's Chicago Cubs have a fine chance to win big league pennants, Helen Hicks is expected to do something great in golf, as may Horton Smith; Dick Glendon, Jr.'s Columbia crew looks like the best in the country, and Max Schmeling is favored to win the world's vacated heavyweight ring championship.

Crackers To Play Rocks Here Today

Wilbur Good's Crackers will open a week's home stand this afternoon when they play the Travelers of Little Rock at Spiller's field. The game will start at 3 o'clock.

After the game with the Rocks the Crackers will brush up their uniforms and prepare to entertain the Memphis Chicks for the remainder of the week. The Chicks will play five games here this week.

This is a hard week for the Crackers but Mr. Good's boys have been hitting the high spots lately, winning 14 out of the last 17 games and most anything can be expected from them.

ALTOONA RACE WON BY MEYER
Altoona, Pa., June 16. (AP)—Lou Meyer today was officially declared winner of yesterday's automobile race at Tinton bowl here by officials of the American Automobile Association.

Ray Rogers, killed in a smash-up in the 121st lap, previously had been designated the winner.

The ruling is subject to the approval of the national contest board of the A. A. A. The drivers in the race were given 24 hours to file a protest. It was reported that a protest would be filed.

In announcing winners yesterday, it was pointed out, officials failed to consult rules under which the race was run. The original announcement gave Keech first place; Meyer, second and Cliff Woodbury, who was injured, third. This was the order in which the men stood at the time of the accident.

A. A. A. officials, however, ruled the race did not end until the drivers not involved in the crash up when the race was down in the 121st lap when the race began collapsing.

The following is the revised standing of the drivers, with the prizes they will receive:

Salvo Leading On Final Lap

John Salvo, the "Flying Cop," of Passaic, N. J., had overcome the lead of Pete Gouzzi, Italian runner, and was leading on the final lap of the transcontinental bunion derby at Wrigley field early this morning as this edition of The Constitution went to press.

The New Jersey runner held a slight margin over the British-born Italian with a little less than 20 miles to be run in Wrigley field.

A large crowd gathered to watch the finish of the grueling race from New York and gave the "Flying Cop" a tremendous cheer when it was announced that he had pulled ahead of his rival.

With his law desk closed and business matters cleared from mind, however, Jones hopes to banish these defects by intensive practice before the beginning of play at Winged-Foot.

The slashing drives of the amateur champion just now are at their best, but he is worried over the behavior of "Calumny Lane" and his iron shots.

With his law desk closed and business matters cleared from mind, however, Jones hopes to banish these defects by intensive practice before the beginning of play at Winged-Foot.

Bracey To Run At Yanks' Park
New York, June 16. (AP)—Two outstanding invitation events, the mile and the 100-yard dash—promise to bring the track faithful to the Yankee stadium tomorrow for the twilight benefit track meet to be conducted under the auspices of the Metropolitan Association, A. A. U.

In the mile, Leo Lermond, husky Boston A. A. runner, who turned in a 4:14 3-5 performance in the Penn relays, will be favored over Joe Hickey, intercollegiate titleholder; Wilbur Goetz, of Alfred university, national collegiate A. A. champion, and Gus Moore, negro cross-country star of the Brooklyn harriers.

In the hundred, the entries include Claude Bracey, Rice institute flash, who finished second to George Simpson in the latter's 9 4-10 seconds performance; Eddie Tolson, negro speedster from the University of Michigan; Reginald Bowen, of the University of Pittsburgh, intercollegiate quarter-mile titleholder; Karl Wildermuth, intercollegiate 100-yard champion; Jimmy Daley, of Holy Cross; Bob McAlister, Jimmy Quinn and others.

Comeback Plans Of Firpo Dropped
Buenos Aires, June 16. (United News).—Luis Angelo Firpo, the wild bull of the Pampas, again has decided his fight is too great for the prize ring.

When Gene Tunney announced his retirement as heavyweight champion, Firpo immediately announced he would accept training and go to the States to fight for the title. He was unsuccessful in his attempt to win from Jack Dempsey.

BOB JONES OFF FOR U. S. OPEN

Amateur Champion Plans Much Practice Before Title Play Starts.
Bobby Jones left Atlanta last night for the scene of the national open golf tournament, bent on recapturing that golfing form which has won for him a record in the event unapproached by another golfer, amateur or professional.

The amateur champion's form is of interest because of the increasing tendency of the man in Main street to pick Jones against the field in every one of his tournaments. And right now Jones is not in his best form.

By dint of hard work in the north, however, he hopes to get back into his swing before the opening of the tournament at Winged-Foot June 27.

It was just such difficulties as Jones has been experiencing with his putter and irons this year that caused him to finish in a tie for eighth place in the 1927 open. Bobby finished that far up the first time he competed for the title in 1928.

On Friday and Saturday Jones shot a pair of 72's on the East Lake Country Club course—the course where he customarily cards 66's and 67's without causing any stir at all.

After spending a few days in New York, Bobby will take up quarters at the Westchester-Biltmore club at a leafy spot near the Winged-Foot course. Then will begin a week or so of intensive practice preliminary to the opening of the event he has already won twice.

The slashing drives of the amateur champion just now are at their best, but he is worried over the behavior of "Calumny Lane" and his iron shots.

With his law desk closed and business matters cleared from mind, however, Jones hopes to banish these defects by intensive practice before the beginning of play at Winged-Foot.

Bracey To Run At Yanks' Park
New York, June 16. (AP)—Two outstanding invitation events, the mile and the 100-yard dash—promise to bring the track faithful to the Yankee stadium tomorrow for the twilight benefit track meet to be conducted under the auspices of the Metropolitan Association, A. A. U.

In the mile, Leo Lermond, husky Boston A. A. runner, who turned in a 4:14 3-5 performance in the Penn relays, will be favored over Joe Hickey, intercollegiate titleholder; Wilbur Goetz, of Alfred university, national collegiate A. A. champion, and Gus Moore, negro cross-country star of the Brooklyn harriers.

In the hundred, the entries include Claude Bracey, Rice institute flash, who finished second to George Simpson in the latter's 9 4-10 seconds performance; Eddie Tolson, negro speedster from the University of Michigan; Reginald Bowen, of the University of Pittsburgh, intercollegiate quarter-mile titleholder; Karl Wildermuth, intercollegiate 100-yard champion; Jimmy Daley, of Holy Cross; Bob McAlister, Jimmy Quinn and others.

FORT QUARTET BEATS GUARDS

McPherson Poloists Pile Up Early Lead To Win, 8-5.
A solid lead, established with four goals scored in the two opening periods, enabled Fort McPherson to withstand a battering assault by the Governor's Horse Guards Sunday afternoon at McPherson. The army team, accordingly, came out on top in the weekly polo game. The score was 8 to 5.

It was a much better game than the last played between the two teams, when McPherson completely swamped the Guards outfit, 15 to 2. A very rainy month has passed since that time and the Guards have put in some extensive practice. The results, which were noticed Sunday in the improved manner in which they hit the ball.

McPherson was also hitting well and the result was a well-played game with much hard riding and long hitting.

The Horse Guards played without their regular 1, Ray Love, who was called out of town on business. Hugh Royer, first string sub, took his place. After a couple of chukkers spent in getting his bearings, Royer came through with some good riding and pushed in a goal. The lineup was further changed with Moran, normally a back, playing at 3 and Gay shifting back to 4. Several times they were in on the ball when he should have been hanging back, but he was instrumental in the closing rush of the Horse Guards, scoring two goals in the fifth chukker.

Fort McPherson played well and its teamwork was consistent. Two goals each were scored in the first and second chukkers and it proved to be a let that could not be overtaken.

The army team, in fact, kept going steadily ahead and at one time had a 6-1 lead over its opponent.

Fort Mac's first goal resulted in directly from a foul. Proctor knocking the ball in from the 50-yard mark and placing it in position for Wing to score. Immediately after this, Moran pushed one in for the Horse Guards.

Then Proctor counted for McPherson and the Blue team was away. The Horse Guards failed to score for the next two periods, although there were times when they seemed very close to doing so.

In the second chukker, Frank, of McPherson, made a beautiful carry down to the goal. Royal rushed in, backed the ball and Gay knocked further away from the goal when Comfort caught it with a good stroke, the ball hitting the goal post. Comfort followed and raked the ball in for a score.

Following this the Horse Guards committed a foul and Proctor's shot from the 50-yard line was good. Wing scored in the third for McPherson and then the Horse Guards came through. With the ball close to McPherson's goal, Christian backed it out, Gay connected solidly and Royer, riding out front, took the ball down in a brilliant carry for a score. The goal had hardly been made before Comfort kicked in with another point for McPherson.

To begin the fifth McPherson scored two, Proctor getting them both and Gay, of the Horse Guards, followed up with a paid. Proctor made his first one that long carry and backed to the second one.

After the ball had traveled down close to the Horse Guard goal, Gay scored the next one on a long carry down the field.

The Horse Guards had the final say, Christian making a pretty good-the-neck shot that carried a good distance for the closing goal.

Dear Sir:

A bunch of the fans in our office have asked me to write you a letter of appreciation of the splendid article about the Atlanta Rifle Club. The article was a real gem and the position assumed by various directors of the Atlanta Rifle Club is a credit to the club.

Your article is splendidly written and your point well taken. While there is nothing said that could give offense to any of the directors or the members of the club, it will at least give them all something to think about.

Atlanta fans are not a high-class bunch of baseball fans. They are a bunch of men who will pay for a ticket to a game and then sit there and watch the game and then go home and tell their friends about it.

There are many fans in class A. Atlanta fans are not a high-class bunch of baseball fans. They are a bunch of men who will pay for a ticket to a game and then sit there and watch the game and then go home and tell their friends about it.

Keep up the good work. A few more articles like the one of today may wake up a few sleepy baseball fans.

Yours truly,
Ralph McGill

DIXIE GOLFERS ARE GATHERING FOR TOURNNEY

Annual Amateur Battle Starts Tuesday at Belle Meade, Nashville.

Nashville, Tenn., June 16. (United News)—Golfers from all over the south are gathering in Nashville for the 27th southern amateur golf tournament, which will be played over the course at Bellemeade Country Club, beginning Tuesday and continuing through Saturday.

The stars of the Dixie courses are coming to contest for the crown which is now worn by Watts Gunn, and which the brilliant Atlanta will not defend, due to his having changed his residence outside the zone.

It will be a fast and high-stepping field as golfers from Dixie tie off in the event over the famous course. The field is already fast, and unless George Livingstone, the club professional, is blessed with an abundance of rain to soften his greens, and fairways, the course also will be fast.

Yet despite the shortage of rain, Livingstone has groomed his course into what should be one of the hardest tests of golf in Dixie. The course has been lengthened, the fairways made narrower and the roughs harder and much deeper. It will be a real test.

Par on the course is 70. It originally was 71, but the 18th hole has been made a par four instead of five.

Eighteen is a two shotter, which requires a long drive and a well-placed iron. Par on the first nine is 34, and it is supposed to take 36 on the home side. The second and sixth are 3s on the first nine, while the rest are 4s. On the home side there are two par 3s and two par 5s which, all in all, makes a well-balanced card.

Wrestling Fans
Promised Action

Joe Rogacki, who wrestles on Matchmaker Earl McGorry's card Tuesday night is one of those hard-boiled babies. It was in his home town in Poland that the children played tiddewinks with manhole covers.

Joe Rogacki is to meet John Freuberg, a 107 pounder, the Paul Jones-Mike Rembert match Tuesday night at the auditorium annex. Freuberg is no man to monkey with in a ring.

Rogacki and Freuberg, weigh about 220 pounds each, will be in there Tuesday evening for an hour match. The fight is expected to be a tough one.

It isn't often that a promoter can put on two matches with four experienced professionals as headliners.

That's McGorry's program for Tuesday night. Prizes will be the same. He will follow this match with another one. His policy has been to continue putting on good matches until he can break down the opposition to wrestling that good match-makers have created here.

ALTOONA RACE WON BY MEYER

Altoona, Pa., June 16.—(AP)—Lou Meyer today was officially declared winner of yesterday's automobile race at Tipton hotel here by officials of the American Automobile Association.

Ray Keck, killed in a smash-up in the 121st lap, previously had been designated the winner.

The race did not end until the drivers to the approval of the national contest board of the A. A. A. The drivers in the race were given 24 hours to file a protest. It was reported that a protest would be filed.

In announcing winners yesterday, it was pointed out, officials failed to consult rules under which the race was run. The original announcement gave Keck first place; Meyer, second and Cliff Woodbury, who was injured, third. This was the order in which the men stood at the time of the accident.

A. A. A. officials, however, ruled the race did not end until the drivers to the approval of the national contest board of the A. A. A. The drivers in the race were given 24 hours to file a protest. It was reported that a protest would be filed.

The following is the revised standing of the drivers, with the prizes they will receive:

Name	Prize
1—Lou Meyer, $4,000.
2—Cliff Rogers, $2,000.
3—Ray Keck, $1,000.
4—Eddie Triplett, $1,000.
5—Fred Wynn, $1,000.
6—Alto Evans, $500.
7—Speed Gardner, $750.
8—Bob Robinson, $500.
9—Jimmy Glasgow, $500.
10—Ray Eason, $500.
11—Cliff Woodbury, $400.
12—Chester Gardner, $400.
13—Joe Lindsay, $400.

Woodbury's condition today was described as "slightly improved." Keck's body, accompanied by his widow, was sent to Coatesville, Pa., for burial.

Good for Macks.

The Athletics got their early lead by beating Washington 12 times in 13 games.

Six Sport Figures Eying Titles

Before October's chilly winds chase away the summer sport season six prominent sport figures may be title holders. Connie Mack's Philadelphia Athletics and Joe McCarthy's Chicago Cubs have a fine chance to win big league pennants, Helen Hicks is expected to do something great in golf, as may Horton Smith; Dick Glendon, Jr.'s Columbia crew looks like the best in the country, and Max Schmeling is favored to win the world's vacated heavyweight ring championship.

FORT QUARTET BEATS GUARDS

McPherson Poloists Pile Up Early Lead To Win, 8-5.

LOPEZ, PARHAM AND MARRIOTT LEAD ATTACK

'Red' Oldham Goes Route; Team Plays Here Today.

Mobile, Ala., June 16.—"Red" Oldham, left-hander with the Atlanta Crackers, last-ed through nine innings Sunday afternoon at Hartwell field to defeat the Mobile Bears, 7-5.

He was weakening badly in the final canto of the Sabbath day matinee when the Bears did most of their run-making, but the oldtimer struggled through, his work in the previous eight cycles having been of such a good order that the crippled local club was helpless against his slants. The Bears scored three times in the ninth after two were out.

Ernie Koob, left-hander, Paul Andrews and Guy Morton, right-handers, who were sent to the mound by Manager Rudy Hulsitt in an effort to win, failed to come through. Koob worked three innings, Andrews three, while Morton finished. The Crackers found it not the slightest trouble to obtain hits off the trio of pitching men who were sent to the mound.

The visitors scored a run in the initial frame off Ernie Koob, who started the pitching for the Bears. Marriott doubled with one down and Koob walked Burrows and with two down a wild pitch scored Bill from second base.

The Crackers scored three times in the third on five hits, one of them a double, a fielder's choice and a walk. Marriott singled behind second, but was forced by Burrows. St. Louis zoomed a single to left to send Burrows to third. Lopez continued the hitting with a single to right, scoring Burrows. The run went out at the plate trying to score on the same play. Haley was given a base on balls. Parham looped a single to right field, scoring Lopez. St. Louis reached third. Sheehan's double to center scored Haley. Oldham ended it when he singled to Chapman.

BEARS TALLY TWICE.

The visitors scored twice in the fifth with Andrews on the mound and the Bears accounted for their first run. Haley walked, then Marriott tripled. A passed ball by Moore led Parham score. Singles by Egbert, Rutherford and Andrews gave the Bears their run.

In the eighth the two clubs scored a run each. The Crackers made Marriott's third hit, a single by Burrows and the third hit by Lopez for a 3-2 run. Carroll in this cycle outran an infield loop and counted when Parham looped a single to right field, scoring Lopez. St. Louis reached third. Sheehan's double to center scored Haley. Oldham ended it when he singled to Chapman.

Teen Competition in State Radium Springs

BLACK HEADS LIST OF STARS FROM ATLANTA

Course Reported in Excellent Shape for Title Chase.

With Charlie Black, of Atlanta, the defending champion, shooting the best golf of his career and with several youngsters pounding at the door for recognition, the annual Georgia state golf tournament at Radium Springs June 26-29 promises to produce plenty of stiff competition.

Latest reports from Albany are in excellent condition. Since the golf links were inundated by flood waters three months ago, thousands of dollars have been spent in putting them in shape and golfers who have been over the sports layout recently were much pleased with the success of the undertaking.

GREATEST TOURNEY.

Larry Arnold, of Atlanta, president of the state association, states that the outlook is for the biggest tournament in point of members in the long history of the association.

In addition to Black, the titleholder, and Vezey Rainwater, a former champion, who defeated Tom Prescott and Bobby Jones in succession to win over the crown, Atlanta will send Young Will Gunn, who is rated one of the best of the local delegation; Julius Hughes, another high school sensation, and Charlie Brunary, number one player on the Georgia Tech golf team.

"Atlanta is expected to send from 40 to 45 golfers to the tournament," Mr. Arnold said.

All of the members of the famous Oliver family of Valdosta, will enter, including John, a former state champion, and his two brothers, Billy and Max, and their father, Harold Callaway, of LaGrange, who finished in a three-cornered tie with Charlie Black and Vezey Rainwater for medalist honors last year, has sent in his signed entry blank, as has Horace Wright, the Macon veteran, who always makes a good showing in the state meet.

SAVANNAH'S HOPE. Savannah is expecting much from Clayton Smith, who won several tournaments at Asheville in recent years. He is one of the best golfers in Savannah.

Arrangements were concluded here today whereby golfers planning to take part in the state tournament, may send their entrance fees prior to the tournament. At the same time it was announced that a committee of Radium Springs club members, headed by A. S. Goss, of Albany, has been designated to handle the local tournament details under the direction of various committees of the state golf association.

Players desiring to send their entrance fees to the tournament may do so with the understanding that a committee of the state association must pass on the eligibility of the entrants.

According to a message received from the association's secretary, Lloyd D. Parks, of Atlanta, only those clubs that have paid the membership fee to the association will be eligible to send players to the tournament.

Virtually all details incident to the state tournament have been completed, it was stated by G. Floyd Arnold, Jr., secretary and treasurer of Radium Springs Country Club. The course, he declared, is in the best condition since its opening two years ago.

Many of the entries in the state tournament are making plans to go directly to Thomasville upon the conclusion of the Radium Springs event. The amateur will conclude Saturday, June 26, and the Piney Woods tournament will get under way at Glen Arden Country Club, Thomasville, on July 1, continuing through July 3.

Reigh Count One Of Cup Favorites

London, June 16.—(United News.) Reigh count, the only American horse in the running, was one of the favorites today in the pre-race odds for the gold cup stakes at Ascot next Thursday.

Reigh Count, winner of the 1920 Kentucky Derby, is quoted at 7 to 1 today, together with Lord Derby's Cri de Guerre.

The favorites are R. Walker's Palisade, and M. J. Wittouck's Palisade Royal, both quoted at 4 to 1. Baron Rothchild's Cacao is a 5 to 1 choice.

Other entrants and their odds are: 10 to 1, Cyronie and Flamingo; 14 to 1, Oxenard and Henslow; 16 to 1, L. Lawuit, Porman and Saracen.

Cards Suffer Loss Of Pair to Braves

National League Leaders Are Bunched as Result of Games Sunday.

After ten consecutive victories, Burleigh Grimes blew up against the Cincinnati Reds Sunday and the Pittsburgh Pirates lost a chance to take both ends of a double-header. The Pirates won the first game, 3 to 1, while Grimes held the Reds to eight hits. By starting Grimes they looked sure to win the second. The Reds battered Grimes hard, however, and he was charged with responsibility for the 8-to-1 defeat his mates suffered.

The Boston Braves took both ends of a double-header from the Cardinals at St. Louis by scores of 9 to 8 and 5 to 5. Base hits rained freely in both games and in both contests ninth inning rallies by the Cardinals were checked one run short of their goal.

The Cubs dropped to third place in the race by losing to Philadelphia, 7 to 2, at Chicago. Bengie pitched for the winners and turned in 13 strikeouts, allowing only five hits.

YANKEES GET GAME OF AS; BROWNS WIN

Macks Bow to Indians, 10 to 9; Champs Beat Tigers, 11-7; Nats Win.

Miller Huggins' crippled Yankees gained a game on the leading Philadelphia Athletics Sunday when they outbait Detroit for a 11-to-7 victory at New York, while the A's were losing at Cleveland.

The game at New York was a free-hitting affair, the Yankees setting 17 hits to 15 for the Tigers. The New York nine bunched hits with more effect than Detroit, however, to clinch the decisive victory.

Philadelphia lost its first game in seven starts, 10 to 9, when outbaited by the Indians at Cleveland. Five runs of the first of the game gave the A's a 6-to-2 lead, but Cleveland scored seven in the last of the same inning to assume a lead never lost.

St. Louis settled itself more securely in third place by defeating the Red Sox at Boston, 5 to 2. Boston was able to score only two runs off 10 hits.

Washington, behind the excellent pitching of Firo Marberry, won a narrow victory from Chicago, 4 to 3. Marberry allowed the White Sox only three hits and nine runs.

PELICANS TAKE SECOND PLACE AS VOLS LOSE

Nashville Beaten, 7-5; Bats Drop One to Chicks, 3-1.

Nashville, Tenn., June 16. (AP)—New Orleans moved back into second place today by taking a 10-inning game from Nashville, 7 to 5. Beane went the route for the Birds, while Lundgren became wild in the sixth and Miltstead was routed in the tenth.

Beane helped his own cause with a four-bagger and Bolton and Blakesley also for the Birds. The circuit marked the first loss of the Vols since last Sunday since that date able to finish a game against Nashville.

Beane had the Vols helpless throughout, many of their hits being "Mutt's." ab.h.p.a. NASHVILLE ab.h.p.a. Mutt's 4 2 1 2 Douthett 4 2 0 0 Mutt's 4 2 1 2 Douthett 4 2 0 0

Crackers Push Vols For Week's Honors

Six Victories Out of Eight Games Played Gives Atlanta 2nd Place for Week.

Memphis, June 16.—(AP)—The spurt of the Nashville Volunteers stood out as the spectacular performance in the Southern association during the past week. Their single defeat came today at the hands of New Orleans, but this one loss was enough to drop them from their precarious perch in second place, which was relinquished to the Pelicans.

Third place, however, represented a net gain of one for the week. The Atlanta Crackers pushed the Volunteers for the week's honors in the victory column.

In the 29 games played during the seven days, including today, the eight clubs hammered out 615 hits, including 44 home runs, scored 363 times and made 86 errors.

Nashville amassed the greatest number of runs, 76; drove out the most hits, 101, and made one-fourth of the 44 homers.

Little Rock, which dropped four out of seven games, made the fewest runs, 33, and the fewest hits, 84. The Travelers, however, were tied with Chattanooga for the honor of holding opponents to fewest runs, 34. Birmingham was the most liberal to opponents, allowing them a total of 61. The best defensive work was shown by the Mobile Bears, who made but six errors in 29 games.

The Atlanta Crackers won only two victories out of seven games. The Pelicans, however, won five out of seven games.

"A population of 500,000 by 1932" is Atlanta's slogan. Let's all pull together for a Greater Atlanta.

The Constitution's Weekly Business Review

EDITED BY M. D. GLEASON

There is hardly a need or a want that cannot be filled in Atlanta's stores and factories.

Imperial Bedding Company Invites Visits to Plant

If every housewife, hotel and boarding house keeper and all interested in good mattresses could go through the Imperial Bedding Company's large plant at 421 Whitehall street, S. W., they would see one of the finest and most modern renovating plants in the entire south.

There are few operations in renovating mattresses, but in this large plant the mattress is handled in a system that makes a new one out of an old one in a few hours. At least there is no way to tell the difference between mattresses renovated by the Imperial Bedding Company and a new one just bought out of the store.

Here is the daily and hourly way of doing business. Their phone, West 3585-4231, rings; a voice inquires about mattress renovating, and then a salesman arrives at the householder's home and submits samples and prices. The old or soiled mattress is taken back to the factory. The first thing done with it is to put it in an electric sterilizer where the heat is so the housewife selected when she gave her order. The mattress then goes to the stitchers, who work with great rapidity and soon convert a big shapeless bag into a rolled edge mattress, and it is ready to be returned back to the owner.

The great advantage of having an old mattress made into a new one is the big saving in money, for to thoroughly sterilize, clean and make a soft felt mattress, the Imperial Bedding Company does this work for about one-third what a new mattress will cost when bought out of the store. In the matter of ticking and covering, this firm has thousands and thousands of yards of all the newest and standard patterns as well as distinctive, individual patterns that make beautiful mattresses.

One great advantage the Imperial has in making or renovating mattresses is that it is equipped to handle the work for hotels and colleges as well as private families. The company has a capacity of 150 mattresses a day and has fast trucks that will call for or deliver them anywhere in Georgia.

HURLED OFF BRIDGE BY AUTO, GEORGIA GIRL NEAR DEATH

Sandersville, Ga., June 16.—(P)—Helen Shurling, 15, was probably fatally injured today when she was hurled from a highway bridge near Tennesse and hurled to the railroad tracks 40 feet below. Two other girls who also were hit by the car were brought to a hospital here.

County officers immediately spread an alarm to officers of surrounding counties, who were requested to watch for three men who were believed to have occupied the car that struck the girls.

The Shurling girl received a fractured jaw and internal injuries. Her 17-year-old sister, Mary, was bruised and is believed internally injured. Moore Wood, 15, received a broken leg and severe bruises.

Witnesses said the automobile came to a stop after striking the girls, but the occupants drove away after seeing the injured girls lying on the bridge.

Spring Sales Campaign Nets Good Results on Hart Burners

The Preferred Equipment Company, of 383 Spring street, N. E., reports sales during its spring campaign on Hart Oil burners far beyond expectations, having received $1 orders in Atlanta and surrounding territory. Many of these are being installed in some of the finest homes in the section.

Thirty-one sales of automatic oil burners six months or more before they will be required to furnish heat to their home owners is an achievement any organization may be proud of and shows that Harry P. Woodward, president, and his salesmen did not let our unusually wet spring keep them in their offices.

Another thing that has been a big factor in their many sales is the splendid service the Preferred Equipment company renders customers. These same justified customers in speaking to their friends of the comfort and convenience of a Hart Automatic Oil burner are a Hart burner for the handsome new homes of Thomas B. Paine, Harold O. Rogers, Foxville McWhorter, Ralph B. Goodson, G. I. Tolson, the New Standard Club on Ponce de Leon avenue.

While it had been the original intention to close the spring prices the first of June, Mr. Woodward states they will remain in force for a few weeks longer and the Standard Dry Cleaning Company can be bought for as low as $395. While these prices are on and he or any of his sales force will welcome a visit to the sales and demonstration rooms or will quickly respond to a call on their telephone.

Mr. Woodward also announces that his company is sales representative for the new Brownell automatic underfed coal stoker. This new device is a motor-driven machine with a good-sized coal hopper mounted on it, in which about a wheel barrow load of the lower grades of coal, such as mine sweeping, dust and slack, is poured. As it is used, it is spread evenly over the fire.

These Brownell automatic coal stokers are specially adapted for larger plants where power or heat is needed. Not only are they great savers of labor but also in fuel, for they save a great percentage of the waste in the old methods of firing boilers or furnaces by hand.

This coal stoker is controlled by an automatic clocked switch, requiring little attention and always dependable. It is connected with a thermostat that will start or stop the action of the stoker by the temperature as set on the regulator. The stoker can also be regulated by a clock, and in many places in the north and east where they are now in operation the stoker starts feeding heavier at the time set on the clock early in the morning and steam is already up before the fireman is required to be on the job.

Mr. Woodward's organization has sold one of these new Brownell stokers to the Standard Dry Cleaning Company to go into the new building on West Peachtree street; one to the Georgian Terrace hotel and another to the Capital City Club.

MAN IS KILLED, ANOTHER HURT, IN AUTO CRASH

Columbus, Ga., June 16.—(P)—Homer Fowler was killed and Clifton Patterson was severely injured when the latter's automobile overturned today on a curve on the Manchester-LaGrange highway. Both men lived at Manchester.

Three other occupants of the car escaped with slight bruises when the automobile left the road and overturned three times. Fowler's neck was broken while Patterson received a broken collar bone.

NEW CHILD'S HOME WILL BE OPENED TODAY AT TYBEE

Savannah, Ga., June 16.—(P)—The Cohen shelter for little ones, in addition to the fresh air home for children conducted on Tybee Island by the Froebel Circle of the King's Daughters, will be opened tomorrow with a public reception in the afternoon. The home, costing $50,000, was made possible by the will of the late, Percival R. Cohen. Remittance of freight charges by the Central of Georgia railway for all supplies carried to the island has made it possible for the home to be furnished at minimum cost by the saving of these freight charges. The home is maintained by public subscriptions.

Zaban Storage Company Inaugurates New Service

The Zaban Storage Company, 12 and 14 Spring street, has recently inaugurated a new service in its line of packing and shipping of wedding presents. During the past few weeks, the company has been busy shipping wedding presents to June brides to all parts of this country.

This firm has always been noted for its exceptional facilities for packing and shipping either by freight or truck. Experienced men in this line who are doing this work all the year around can often crate and get a household of goods under way to its destination before less experienced people could get ready to do the job.

In the storage department, the company has large roomy compartments where the household effects of customers are well protected at all hours day and night. Due to the effectiveness of the latest pesticides, parasites, other vermin, mice and rats cannot live where they are used and, therefore, the storage rooms are free of these obnoxious pests.

In the moving and transfer department, Harry C. Zaban, the president, says: "We are the originators of the 'happy move' and if you must move with you a 'happy move'. If we can serve you, our facilities which consist of the latest rolling equipment in the hands of skilled workmen assures those we serve of a 'happy move' for there is no need to worry when the dependable service of our organization is moving you."

"When you take into consideration," continued Mr. Zaban, "the personal interest we manifest in seeing that household effects and other valuables are transferred with care and dispatch from one location to another, you will readily see that we want to please you so you will always remember that our phone is Walnut 2701 when you wish to make another 'happy move' or store anything you think worth while storing."

GEORGIA ASYLUM EMPLOYEES FAIL TO GET SALARIES

Milledgeville, Ga., January 16.—(Special.)—Employees of the Georgia State Asylum will be unpaid for their services for May, salaries of officials and physicians having been due since June 5 and the pay of employees since June 12. This is the second time in the history of this institution that officials and other employees have not been paid promptly when due, the other instance being in April. No information can be obtained as to when the state expects to meet the May payroll.

The April payroll was held up similarly. Employees of the institution are unable to meet their grocery bills and other living expenses and the credit of many of them having been exhausted there is considerable suffering, particularly among the families of the lower salaried employees.

recalled today, "I was the youngest delegate in 1904 and Susan B. Anthony was the oldest. She was always surprised then to find young women interested in the movement in Europe, for in those days only older women were interested in America.

Although the congress still is looking for extension of women's suffrage to unfranchised countries, its chief work now is for world peace and industrial equality for women. The youth movement also has taken on an importance never given it before.

Resolutions have been prepared on such subjects as world peace, industrial equality, independent citizenship for married women, the situation of unmarried women and illegitimate children, family allowances and mothers' pensions, women police and equal moral standards.

Leaders of the delegations from 43 nations tonight attended the first official function of the congress, a reception by President Mrs. Corbett Ashley, of England.

The American delegates are the Misses Belle Sherman, of Washington; Mollie Ray Carroll, of Baltimore; Amy G. OFFICER AND GIRL CHARGED AS SPIES FOR GERMAN ARMY

Prague, Czechoslovakia, June 16.—(United News)—A beautiful girl, who posed as a "rich heiress," and her sweetheart, Captain Faellout, were charged with espionage on behalf of Germany here tonight, and a re-grouping of the unit of the Czechoslovakian general staff was underway. Faellout was in custody, but the girl could not be found.

Police announced that Faellout had tried his hand at matchmaking to further the aims of his espionage, and that the girl represented herself as an heiress to various unmarried officers of high rank in the army.

Faellout would agree to act as mediator between a certain officer and the "heiress" whom he alone could introduce, authorities said. Police followed up the information and found that a large touring car and driver had been introduced to the same girl, Charlotte Wolff, under the same circumstances. Her parents were poor rather than wealthy, police discovered.

BANDIT ROBS LUCKIE STREET LUNCH STAND

A hold-up man who did not order his victim to "stick 'em up" but rather to "hold 'em down," late Sunday night took about $50 in cash and a valuable watch from Dennis Galanis, operator of a lunch stand on Luckie street, near Spruill street.

According to reports made by Galanis at headquarters, a young white man entered his stand shortly before midnight, as two other customers were eating. The lone "patron" ordered food, ate slowly and after the others had departed arose and walked to the cash register as if to pay his bill. Instead he drew a pistol and ordered the proprietor to hold his hands at his sides. The thief then removed the cash from the register and the watch from Galanis' pocket, after which he walked swiftly to the street, jumped into a large touring car and drove away. Galanis chased him for more than a block but was unable to get the license number.

GIANT COMBINE OF LAKE VESSELS
LATEST MERGER

Cleveland, Ohio, June 16.—(AP)—Merger of 17 Lake Erie steamship lines into a 40 or 50-million-dollar combine will be proposed by Otis & Company, banking house, tomorrow, to owners of the lines. Approximately 115 bulk freighters engaged in transportation of iron ore, coal, lumber and grain, are included in the proposed deal. They represent about 1,000,000 deadweight tons.

The plan of Otis & Company is to organize a giant corporation to buy outright and to operate all properties of the 17 lines. Able management of the new corporation is promised but no names were mentioned either for the head of the proposed company or for its directors.

PHANTOM BURGLAR.
New Yorker Admits 100 Robberies in 10 Weeks.

New York, June 16.—(AP)—Police of Queensboro today arrested an alleged "phantom burglar" whose favorite method they said was to enter the bedrooms of married couples and loot the husbands' trousers pockets so cleverly that domestic quarrels sometimes resulted.

The prisoner gave his name as Max Schatz and police said he admitted committing 100 burglaries in 10 weeks. Detectives said he told them he had learned all about burglary while serving as a policeman in Germany.

Police said the total value of the loot may reach $25,000.
